[From our Correspondent.]

BOSTON, Jan. 8, 1858.

THE SENATE.

It is not of order now to talk of any remote election of any kind, for most persons are thinking of the Senatorial election, which is to occur in January, 1859. Mr. Everett's term will then expire, and there is a host of aspirants. Mr. Everett is not a candidate for re-election, and it is generally understood that he will not accept the office if tendered him. Mr. Everett is now in his 65th year, and has been in public life for more than 30 years. He has been a member of Congress, Governor of Massachusetts, Minister to England, President of Harvard College, Secretary of State, and Senator of the United States. He has filled all these offices with honor to himself and to the State, and has earned the right to retire from public life. He has been a very popular man, and has always been a favorite with the people, but he has never been a politician in the sense in which the word is used here. He has never been a party leader, and has always been above the petty intrigues which are necessary to success in politics. He has been a Whig, a Democrat, and a Republican, as the exigencies of the times required, but he has never been a partisan. He has always been a statesman, and has never been willing to sacrifice principle to party. He has been a Senator of the United States, and has filled the office

Homes for Working Girls.

In view of the difficulty which girls who have to support themselves in the city experience in finding comfortable boarding places, and of the fact that many members of such girls are led astray and ruined through the temptations and associations that surround them in the cheap boarding houses in which they are compelled to live, the Young Men's Christian Association of this city has decided to open a boarding house as an experiment, to provide a Christian home for girls of limited means.

A large and convenient house has been secured, and will be opened in a few days, under the direction and co-operation of the ladies of the city to be selected.

To-morrow (this) evening will be held on Saturday, June 20th, at 8 o'clock p. m., in Room No. 18, Methodist Church Block.

All ladies in the city who are interested in the matter are invited to be present, and are requested to notify the undersigned of their intention to attend.

J. H. LITTLE,
Chairman Christian
Boarding House Committee.

DIED IN HIS STEEPLE.—John Murphy, a man-tailor, forty years of age, boarding at No. 106 West Adams street, left home yesterday morning, complaining of illness, and said he would take a walk. When he reached the corner of Jefferson and Wells streets, he sat down on an old dress circular, and a moment afterward he toppled forward, and fell upon the pavement, dying before he could be rendered any assistance. The deceased served three years in the Thirty-fifth Illinois Infantry, and was a member of Post Foster, from whose hall, where he has been in this city he has resided, from a notification found in his pocket, it was proposed to bury his body, where an inquest will be held to-day.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL.

MONETARY.

FRIDAY EVENING, June 19, 1868.

Preparations for the July interest and dividend season by the National Banks, have rendered the money market to-day apparently closer than for several days past; but, with this exception, there is no stringency to speak of, and the demand upon good paper is comparative at the usual rates of 10 per cent per annum. There has been considerable enquiry for money by the Milwaukee bankers, but it has generally refused, except for Eastern exchange at 1/4 discount.

Sterling bills for Eastern Exchange is day very dry and heavy, and rates nominal bankers ruled firm. Milwaukee bills on New York were sold at 1/4 off; and round lots were offered at 1/2 off, with only moderate sales at 1/4 discount of $1 0@1 50 per thousand. Counter rates were steady at 1@1-10 discount buying, and par selling.
